St. Patrick's Day

Saint Patrick's Day is on March 17th . A lot of people celebrate this holiday all around the world, but they originally celebrated it in Ireland. Some places in the United States of America have parades to celebrate this holiday. This festival is so important! St. Patrick was English. His real name was Maewyn. When he was a boy, he had a bad experience in his country. After six years, Maewyn travelled to France. In France, Maewyn changed his name into Patrick and studied in a monastery. Patrick was sixty years old when he travelled to Ireland again. The symbols of this festival are the leprechauns and the shamrocks. A leprechaun is a little old man who lives alone and makes shoes. It's special because it has a pot of gold. The shamrock is what Patrick used to explain the concept of luck. In this festive holiday people wear green (which is the colour of hope) and talk about shamrocks and lucky leprechauns. They go to church and kiss a big rock called Blarney Stone. People celebrate St Patrick to create excitement and energy in Ireland. On this day, everyone wants to be Irish!
